Dear Walter &

I got your letter yesterday morning & me this morning thank you for both Mrs Bland & Mr Bland to the Park yesterday & had afternoon tea with them there, we had promised Katherine Bland we would, she is nearly to England Mrs. her father & mother looked very lonely & old & weak there are so many people needing help in these days.

Kate drove the car to the street that I Sullivan ought to be in the car & not find it - she is going to town this morning &

So am I & I will ask them if they received a letter, the envelope enclosed from me & if they have been careless about it, it will do them good to let them see that you have friends who care, they can look them up. I will be very polite to them unless they have been careless & then my manners will show them what I think.

I will try & look up Gessoch too. But I shall have to hurry back as Iris afternoon Mrs O'Keilly & her child are coming this afternoon & Mary Dunlop Mary Cunningham that was Kate & Ruby went to hear Mr Lawson play last night, you might remember him in Cairn, he is a returned student As she did not go to a dance she went to a concert instead, she has gone to the hospital today + will come back with Eric O'Keilly + her child + Mary Farlop.

I am glad that James + Mrs. Steele + my dear old Spic + Mary + you, they are far too old to go making long journeys, what is Mr. Gillespie doing away, perhaps the change will do him good.

I hope your cold is much better or gone, I will send you some tea + brown, "Be very much more" these times are very strange, + so many are upset, as far as I know from what I have been told Danby is not going back to Red Hill, + from all accounts Mr. G. has Mr. G. has evidently told his father he was not a success, Poor Danby I think he did his best + was very patient under it.
Much love in great haste Your affectionate Mother
