Dear Walter.

It was very kind of you to send us that cable of sympathy over our dear mother's death, and we thank you all very much for it.

I am only sorry that you should have waited so long for an acknowledgement, but there was a mis understanding between Maud + myself, each thought the other was writing - and so far as it was my fault I am sorry about it.

As a matter of fact after the funeral, my sisters left the flat in the afternoon & went to stay away - May came here for a fortnight and was all the better for it. At present we have maud here.

As you have no doubt read in the papers, we have had a very hard winter & things in the garden have suffered badly.

I hope your mother is well, please remember me to her - I expect Kate & her family will have left for India before you get this.

Again thanking you for Cudding.

Yours affly
Cousin
